A SOLANO COUNTY sheriff deputy holds what was thought to be the knife used by two robbers to a bus hijacking late Friday night on Interstate 80. The weapon at the time was believed used to threaten passengers on the Reno-bound bus which was taken over east north of Fairfield.

Moon Show For TV On Xmas

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—The first of a new breed of commercial communications satellites lifted into orbit last Wednesday may be in operation by Christmas to bring the Apollo 8 moon show to the homes of millions.

Called the Intelsat 3 and able to handle five times the traffic of earlier relay satellites, the instrument package is parked in orbit over the western Atlantic Ocean.

A spokesman for Comsat, owner of the satellite with 42 member nations, said the Intelsat's antennas were mounted preliminary tests performed without a flaw, and operations were underway to hook the satellite to radio waves of communication in time for Christmas Day use.

Murder Suspect Hunted in Vallejo

(Continued from page 1) slayings several people have reported seeing a car parked along the road with kids in it and one witness reported seeing two cars parked next to each other.

"We haven't uncovered a motive yet, but robbery and rape have been eliminated," Lucifora added.

"We have been unable to turn up any evidence of another car in the area. The ground was very firm and no tracks have turned up," the investigating officer said.

The two youths, on their first date, had apparently "traded" the road following Christmas Eve when they were arrested on charges of kidnapping.

Paradise was an Eagle Scout and a member of Vallejo High School's wrestling team.

Miss Jensen attended High School.

FBI, Police Corner Kidnapper Suspect

"We're going to search until we find him, it takes all night or all week," a deputy warden said.

Kris, 26, married along with his blonde, 26-year-old girl, Ruth Elzabeth Solter.

Bus Hijacked Near Fairfield

Several of the passengers, were struck by the gunman, apparently out of anger at the stoppage of the bus.

One passenger claimed, "I gave him $40 and he hit me because I wasn't enough."

After collecting the loot, the man ordered the driver to stop by the Snowy Hollow Motel outside Fairfield.

After a short drive they ditched the car, and most of the stolen goods in a field adjacent to K.I. Jones Elementary school, site of the new Solano Mall on Travis Boulevard.

They then fled in the Parker with a 1964 Chrysler Imperial.

Robber Has Xmas Spirit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It's Christmas and the spirit of giving is in the air. It even got to one kidnapper man today.

Bolestin Williams, 26, of Hattiesville, Md., told police he was driving in Washington when he saw a man with a pistol hidden in his car at a traffic light and decided to kidnap him.

Then, handing the kidnapper two dollars back to Williams, he said, "Merry Christmas."

Williams was taken to a hospital by Fairfield Ambulance following the kidnapping.

Hong Kong Flu Hits Peak Here

While other parts of the nation report increasing epidemics of Hong Kong flu, the illness seems to be subsiding somewhat in the Fairfield area.

Check of health records show a serious threat to health by almost half the cases.

The current outbreak of Hong Kong flu is just one kind, says a local health official.
