

Joy Monsagrati, Philip Tucker Wed In Newman Hall, Berkeley

The Holy Spirit Chapel in Newman Hall, adjoining the University of California campus in Berkeley, was the setting Sept. 14 for the marriage of two widely known young Vallejoans, Joy Ann Monsagrati and Philip Gary Tucker.

Joy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mero L. Monsagrati, 136 Plov Way, and Philip is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Tucker, 2015 Tennessee St.

Two hundred guests were present for the morning wedding, with the Rev. Richard J. Callahan officiating at 10 o'clock. Yellow, pink and white gladioli with white chrysanthemums decorated the chapel, and family pews were marked with white chrysanthemums tied with white satin bows.

Mrs. Anita Hanley of Vallejo was vocalist for the wedding, with George Herbert, also of Vallejo, at the organ.

JOY WAS escorted to the altar by her father. Her floor length gown of Chantilly lace over heavy white satin was Victorian in design, with a white satin sash accentuating the Empire waistline. A large white satin Dior bow held her elbow-length veil of silk illusion, and her cascade bouquet was of stephanotis, cat-tleya and phalaenopsis orchids.

For something old, the bride wore a pair of heavy gold Italian earrings which belonged originally to her maternal grandmother. Her bridal gown was something new, a penny borrowed from her maid of honor carried out that part of the tradition, and something blue was the traditional garter.

Miss Lillian Perdoni, maid of honor, and Miss Patricia McDevitt, bridesmaid, wore identical Empire gowns of moss green linen, with Venetian lace bordering the three-quarter length sleeves. Their headpieces were of matching veiling and yellow carnations formed their bouquets.

PHILIP'S BROTHER, Terry L. Tucker, served as best man, and ushers were William Demmon, Leigh Allen and the bride's cousin, Andrew Moglia.

Mrs. Monsagrati attended her daughter's wedding in a dress and coat ensemble of lime green silk, with heavy jeweling accenting the neckline of her sleeveless dress. Matching accessories, a beige hat and gloves, and a corsage of phalaenopsis orchids completed her costume.

Mrs. Tucker, mother of the bridegroom, wore a pale pink shantung dress with three-quarter sleeves and a jeweled neckline. Her accessories were in matching pink, and she wore white gloves and a corsage of phalaenopsis orchids.

A reception and luncheon for the 200 wedding guests followed at the Oakland Club in Oakland, where elaborate floral decorations emphasized a green and gold color scheme.

MISS SUSAN TUCKER, sister of the bridegroom, supervised the guest book, and at the conclusion of the reception the bride's young cousins, Mary Ann and Annette Giannini of Orinda, distributed little rice packets of green and gold net, tied with white bows.

As luncheon concluded, the bride and bridegroom went to each guest and presented almond candy enclosed in a lacy heart-shaped box in keeping with an old Italian bridal tradition.

Before leaving for a honeymoon spent in Carmel, Monterey and Southern California the new Mrs. Tucker tossed her wedding bouquet, which was caught by Miss Gloria Bullock, a classmate of the bride at St. Vincent's. Best man Terry Tucker, caught the bride's garter.

As her going away costume the bride wore a gray knit dress trimmed in navy blue, with which she wore red accessories and the white cat-tleya orchid from her wedding bouquet.

ON THEIR return the newlyweds established their first home in Oakland at 490 Capitol St., Apt. 4.

Joy is a 1968 graduate of St. Vincent's High School and has been active with the Vallejo General Hospital Caudystrippers. She plans to attend Peralta College in Oakland.

Philip, brother of Terry, Susan and Jeffrey Tucker, was graduated in 1965 from Vallejo High School where he was prominent in student affairs. He attended Solano College for two years, where he was associated with the Circle K Club, and will graduate next June from the University of California at Berkeley. He is employed by the F. W. Woolworth Co.

He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Boatwright and Mrs. Leonard Maker, all of Vallejo.

IN KEEPING with an old Italian wedding tradition, Philip Gary Tucker and his bride, the former Joy Ann Monsagrati, distributed little heart-shaped boxes of almond candy to wedding guests at their reception luncheon. They were married Sept. 14 in Newman Hall adjoining the Berkeley campus of the University of California.
