

Snow Postpones Aberdeen Talk By Governor

ABERDEEN (AP) — Today's snowstorm stopped Gov. Ralph Herseth from getting here and probably delayed, for a day, the formal announcement that he is a candidate for re-election.

Herseth was scheduled to speak at a Young Democrats dinner. There had been reports that he would announce his candidacy at that time.

But since Herseth could not be here, the dinner has been postponed until Saturday night. Herseth will speak then.

Richard Gaikowski, regional director of the Young Democrats, said Herseth's speech will be "Taxes and Stimulation of Urbanization by the GOP"—a reference to the migration from farms, it was explained.

Several other Democratic dignitaries were scheduled to attend the dinner here.

Herseth had also been scheduled to take part in groundbreaking ceremonies for the new state School for the Blind and a new Catholic Home for the Aged. Both ceremonies were also postponed.
