

Motorist Nudges Snoozer At Millerton Lake

The day was warm, the sand inviting so Richard Vance Hotson, 20, an airman stationed in Madera stretched out for a snooze at Millerton Lake.

A few minutes later Hotson was surprised to feel something nudging him uphill.

He discovered a car driven by Paul Lee Stine, 19, of 1018 Vasser Avenue bumping him. Stine said because of the incline and his car being pointed uphill he failed to see the sleeping Hotson.

Hotson suffered bruises and abrasions but was not hospitalized. The incident happened on the Fresno side of the lake.
