

Oceanside Bus And Taxi Drivers Warned Of Killer

OCEANSIDE (UPI) — Bus and taxi drivers Tuesday continued to work despite an anonymous warning from a man who told police he killed a cab driver and planned "to get a bus driver."

Police have revealed that a man telephoned headquarters the night before the murder of cab driver Raymond Davis, 29, on Wednesday. The case is unsolved and police said they are unable to uncover a motive or clues.

Davis was shot in the back and temple. His body was dumped in an alley of the exclusively St. Malo residential district.

Police said another telephone call was received Sunday night from a man who asked:

"Do you remember me calling last week and telling you I was going to pull a real baffling crime . . . I killed the cab driver and I'm going to get me a bus driver next."

The 25 bus drivers of Oceanside Transportation System were advised of the warning and a military policeman from Camp Pendleton was assigned to each bus operating on the base after dark.
