DONNA

COMPLAINT

9/23/70

[redacted] did not at that time want to place a Missing Person notice. She was interested in the FBI's looking for Miss LASS. The Bureau's jurisdiction was explained to her.

b6
b7c

On 9/21/70 SA [redacted] Resident Agent, Auburn RA, which covers South Lake Tahoe, contacted Lt. [redacted] of the South Lake Tahoe Police Department. Lt. [redacted] said that relatives of Miss LASS had contacted his department and filed a Missing Person report concerning DONNA LASS. He said the matter was currently under investigation by his agency but that sufficient facts had not been developed to evaluate the disappearance of Miss LASS.

On 9/22/70 Lt. [redacted] informed that Miss LASS was last seen at her apartment by the apartment house manager on 9/5/70 and that she last reported for work as a nurse at the Sahara-Tahoe Casino on 9/5/70, her shift terminating at 2:00 A.M. on 9/6/70. Lt. [redacted] said his department had failed to locate anyone who had seen or heard from Miss LASS since she left work at the above casino. He said her nurse's uniform was left in a brown paper bag in a First Aid Room of the Sahara-Tahoe Casino, indicating she may have changed into civilian clothes at the termination of her shift. He said he learned that on occasion she did do this so that she could go to one of the bars for a drink or two at the end of her shift.

b7c

Lt. [redacted] also advised that, according to his records, on 9/13/70 his agency received a telephonic request from [redacted] Security Shift Manager, Sahara-Tahoe Casino, for the South Lake Tahoe Police Department to make a welfare check on Miss LASS at her apartment inasmuch as she had not reported to work for several days. His agency responded, made inquiry at the apartment building, and determined she had not been in her apartment for several days. Her car was parked in the parking lot there. Lt. [redacted] also advised that Security Officer [redacted] at the Sahara-Tahoe Casino had received a telephone call from an unknown male on about September 7, 8, or 9, 1970, that Miss LASS was leaving the area due to illness in the family. Lt. [redacted] said that Security Officer [redacted] does not know the identity of the caller or the origin of the call.

b7c

Lt. [redacted] said that an inspection of Miss LASS' apartment developed that all her personal effects, with the exception of one civilian outfit previously described, were still located in her apartment and that her car was still parked there. He said his inquiry reflected Miss LASS enjoyed a good reputation, was considered reserved and quiet, and as one who did drink on only limited occasions. She resided in her apartment alone, having moved into that apartment about 9/1/70. His agency interviewed

b6
b7c

SC 7-0-34

her previous female roommates and two occasional male dates, but none had any information indicating she had been seen or heard from since her last work shift described above.

Lt. [redacted] advised he had been contacted on a daily basis by relatives of Miss LASS and that they had indicated some dissatisfaction and disappointment with the investigation conducted by his agency.

b7c

[redacted] On 9/23/70 [redacted] contacted SA [redacted] [redacted] of the Auburn RA, at which time she said she was dissatisfied with the investigation conducted by the South Lake Tahoe Police Department and the Douglas County Sheriff's Office, Zephyr Cove, Nevada, and wanted to know what action she could take to involve the FBI in the disappearance of her sister. She said it was her consensus and that of her family that Miss LASS had met with foul play.

The FBI's jurisdiction in such matters was again explained to [redacted]

b6
b7c

[redacted] stated she is considering communicating with the Governor, Senators, or Representatives from her State of South Dakota, the Governor of California, or the FBI in Washington, D. C. in attempt to get the FBI involved in this matter.

There is no indication that there is a violation within the jurisdiction of the FBI. The South Lake Tahoe Police Department has been investigating this matter. This is being forwarded to the Bureau in the event inquiry is received, and no further inquiry is being made UACB.

Trail Grows Colder

Family, Friends' Concern Mounts For Missing Stateline Nurse

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE — The trail of missing Stateline casino nurse Donna A. Less is growing colder for police investigating her mysterious disappearance while concern for her welfare by immediate family members and friends is mounting.

Sisters of the 25-year-old missing woman, Mrs. Dick Bellach and Mrs. Mary Pilker of Sioux Falls, SD, flew to South Lake Tahoe when they learned she had not been seen since leaving work at 2 a.m. Sept. 6.

They have paid the rent for the remainder of this month on Donna's apartment in which she stayed only one night and are reluctant to plan beyond that date in the hope their sister will be found and their lives returned to normal.

Donna lived during the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Larry Lowe, a young couple who had planned to return to college but are remaining here also in the hope of being of some assistance in locating her.

Mrs. Lowe also is a nurse and worked with Donna from 1967 to 1969 at Santa Barbara. The missing woman was working at Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco when she was persuaded to seek employment at South Lake Tahoe by the Lowes last June.

Donna was described by Mrs. Lowe as "shy and retiring," a girl who never smoked, who drank very little and generally was opposed to the free life style of many of her contemporaries. She attended church at St. Mary's in the Pines "every Sunday."

The mystery of her disappearance was compounded by a male caller who notified her employer and landlord Sept. 7 that she would not be available because of illness in her family. The sisters told police there had been no illness.

Donna's car, a domestic compact model found at her apartment, was completely paid for, according to the sisters. She had a bank account and many new clothes which were discovered undisturbed in the apartment.

Lt. John Crow said detectives have followed every lead and talked to everyone who knew her or saw her before she vanished. Anyone who may have information which might help police is requested to call the police 541-4060.

There are similarities between this case and that of Sacramento nurse Judith Bakari, who was abducted March 7 from her Capitol apartment and slain. Her body was found later in a shallow grave April 26 near Vernal, Placer County.

Concerned Sisters

Mrs. Dick Bellach, left, and Mrs. Mary Pilker, who flew to South Lake Tahoe from Sioux Falls, SD, examine Donna's clothes.

South Lake Tahoe,
El Dorado County

Donna Lass, a pretty young nurse who left San Francisco to work in the first-aid office of the Sahara hotel-casino here, has been missing for three weeks under ominous circumstances.

Officially, her disappearance is a missing persons case under "extensive investigation." But it is known that police in El Dorado county are checking associations with the suspected murderer of a Sacramento supermarket bitch.

Miss Lass, 25, described by friends and relatives as a happy, dependable girl, vanished about 2 a.m., Sunday, September 6, at the end of her shift at the Sahara in Stateline on the Nevada side.

APARTMENT

With the exception of one outfit, her clothes and belongings in her newly rented apartment in South Lake Tahoe were found intact. Her 1968 convertible car was parked undamaged outside.

A $300 savings account was untouched and her credit cards have not been used since the disappearance.

On March 7, Judith Ann Hakari, 21, vanished at the end of her regular shift as a nurse at Sutter Memorial Hospital in Sacramento. Her apartment was untouched and saving money for a trip to Europe.

Jeanne Gottschalk, who shared an apartment with Miss Lass in San Francisco and worked on the same ward with her at Letterman, said her friend described her winter plans in glowing terms during a telephone conversation September 3.

Miss Gottschalk was invited to Lake Tahoe to spend the Labor Day weekend at Miss Lass' newly rented apartment. Not knowing the address, Miss Gottschalk arrived here and walked to meet her friend through the Sahara, but Miss Lass was absent from work. Miss Gottschalk returned to San Francisco without seeing her.

As the absence lengthened, hotel officials contacted the South Lake Tahoe police, who checked her apartment and could find no clue to her whereabouts. Relatives in Sioux Falls flew here a week ago.

"The apartment was immaculate," Mary Piller, Miss Lass' widowed sister, said yesterday. "She was expecting a friend from San Francisco for the weekend."

"She is a very dependable, friendly girl," Mrs. Piller said. "She would never take

DONNA LASS
Missing three weeks

Seven weeks later the "savagely beaten" body of Miss Hakari was found buried in a shallow grave in the Sierra foothills of Placer county. The case remains unsolved.

BODY

Miss Lass, whose family lives in Beresford, S.D., became a first-aid nurse at the Sahara last June after living the previous five months in San Francisco and working at Letterman General Hospital at the Presidio.

She liked her job, according to a close friend, and

Dead End

Social to The Examiner

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE — Worried lawmen said today they have reached a "dead end" in the three-week search for a missing gambling casino nurse — and conceded they think she has met with foul play.

Donna Lass disappeared in the early morning of Sept. 6 after she got off work at the Sahara hotel-casino in Stateline, Nev.

"We're suspicious of foul play because of the nature of the disappearance and the type of girl she is," said Sgt. Richard Dunn, of the South Lake Tahoe police.

'Straight'

He described the 23 year old Miss Lass, who went to the resort center from San Francisco in June to work in the Sahara's first-aid office, as "very clean cut . . . straight."

She had worked the previous five months at Lerner General Hospital.

Her roommate in San Francisco, Jo Anne Gottschle, went to South Lake Tahoe to spend the Labor Day holiday with her. Miss Gottschle never saw her friend because she was missing from work. Hotel officials, a short time later, contacted police.

The circumstances of her disappearance, police said, have caused more than it is connected with the March 7 disappearance of a Sacramento nurse.

Girl Slashed

Judith Ann Hakari, 23, vanished after finishing a night shift at Sutter Memorial Hospital in Sacramento.

Her apartment and car both were undisturbed. Police noted that Miss Lass' new apartment in South Lake Tahoe also was untouched and her car was parked outside.

Miss Hakari's body was found almost two months later in a shallow grave in the Placer County foothills. She had been "savagely beaten," police said.

Sgt. Dunn said investigators on a lead. Tahoe were working closely with the Sacramento sheriff's office because of the possible connection between Miss Hakari's murder and Miss Lass' disappearance.

Planning For Trip

A native of Beresford, S.D., Miss Lass intended to save money while working at Tahoe for a trip to Europe next year. Relatives from Sioux Falls, S.D., arrived at Tahoe last week but have been unable to shed any light on her disappearance.

Sgt. Dunn said there was no evidence that Miss Lass was a party girl and she had no steady boy friend. "She did have lots of friends and she would never do this to herself without satisfying someone," he said.

Dear Edgar:

I have been contacted in behalf of [redacted]

[redacted]
Donna A. Lass, disappeared from Lake Tahoe, California, on September 6.

Donna Lass is twenty-five years old and worked as a nurse at the Sahara-Tahoe Hotel, where she was last seen as she was leaving work at 2:00 a.m. I am told that on September 7, a hotel security guard received a telephone call from someone with a male voice, who reported that Miss Lass would not be at work because of illness in her family. Her landlord received a similar telephone call on the same day.

My information is that both the local police and Nevada police have been working on this case, and an Iowa private detective employed by the family has been in the Lake Tahoe area for about a week. If there is any way in which the FBI can assist in the search for Miss Lass, the family will appreciate it very much.

In an effort to be of assistance a search of our Identification Division files was conducted but I regret to tell you no indication of her whereabouts was disclosed. A missing person notice was previously placed in file in behalf of Senator George McGovern. In view of your interest I am having a notation added to the effect that any information we may receive will also be forwarded to you.

We do not, of course, have the authority to conduct an active investigation in the absence of a violation of a Federal statute within our jurisdiction.

Hoover Describes Technology's Role In Law Enforcement

By J. EDGAR HOOVER
Director of FBI

Written for
The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — I frequently hear the question asked: "Why has not crime subsided with the improvements to law enforcement in recent years?" The question is a good one and demands a straightforward answer. The answer, it seems to me, is clear: Improved law enforcement cannot by itself control crime.

The current crime problem developed over a long period of time. It is the outgrowth of multiple causes that essentially reveal that for many years our society has been out of kilter with a number of fundamental principles necessary for its healthy, orderly and secure progress under a rule of law. Reversing this trend will be neither quick nor easy.

To halt the growth of crime will require changes and improvements throughout our society but particularly in the administration-of-justice system.

Prisoner rehabilitation, court reorganization, adequate anti-crime legislation, penal reforms, and expanded data on crime and criminals, are but a few of the areas where efforts are being mobilized to correct deficiencies which have unintentionally aided the proliferation of criminality.

Outside the criminal justice complex, the disproportionate involvement of youth in serious crime demands priority attention with special emphasis in our educational system on the responsibilities of the individual to the rule of law in a free society. The importance of such an educational effort cannot, in my opinion, be overestimated.

As for law enforcement, it has entered an era in which its ability to respond to crime has been drastically improved by technology. The methods of law enforcement have not significantly changed but the manner in which they are applied has.

Primary among the advanced technology that is changing police capability are sophisticated communications and record-storage systems.

By use of the computer, communications and records have been impressively joined to give law enforcement an extraordinary tool in the discovery of crime and its perpetrators. More important, this computer technology holds incredible promise in the future of law enforcement.

Consider the problem posed to police by a common street crime which reaches virulent intensity at this time of year—shoplifting. True to the parlance of yesteryear, the shoplifter to be successfully prosecuted most often be caught with "the goods on him."

The unsuccessful shoplifter who is detected inside the store or nearby poses no particular problem for the police. The property is recovered and his connection with the crime is irrefutably established. These circumstances lead to the offender's conviction which, of course, is the greatest of all crime deterrents.

But what of the shoplifter who anonymously and successfully flees the crime scene, or those — quite probably the majority—who leave the victimized establishment without their crime having been detected?

A few years ago the police would have had to rely on rare and chance events to uncover these offenders, especially in situations which could produce evidence to insure their convictions.

This is no longer the case. Discovering the hidden perpetrators of high-volume street crime offenses may never become the rule of police work, but increasingly it is becoming less and less the exception.

Versatile police communications systems and nearly instantaneous exchanges of vital law enforcement data on crimes and criminals, as exemplified by the FBI's National Crime Information Center (NCIC), are exposing thieves of all types hourly.

Two-way radio-equipped foot patrolmen can now translate mere suspicion into prompt and effective police action often leading to a felon's identification and arrest.

Many items of serially identifiable property reported missing or stolen in computerized police records frequently are swiftly located—sometimes with the probable thief—at a pawn shop some distance from the victimized establishment.

A patrol car officer's radio inquiry concerning the registered owner of a stalled vehicle, containing a dozen new women's dresses, can alert the officer to the possibility of a crime by the fact that the car's owner has a long arrest record for shoplifting.

Police performance is further improved by this new technology since a defendant's guilt is more often established from the sureness of physical evidence rather than the uncertainty that frequently accompanies eyewitness testimony.

The NCIC, located at FBI Headquarters in Washington, D.C., now encompasses high-speed law enforcement communication and data exchange networks of 50 states, the District of Columbia, and Canada.

With more than three million records, the NCIC computer has handled with cooperating law enforcement agencies as many as 90,000 transactions a day and is furnishing positive responses—identifying crimes, criminals, and stolen property—to as many as 900 inquiries daily. As this system expands, so will the proficiency of law enforcement.

Advancing technology now promises to some day soon convert the FBI's massive finger-print files to computer storage with the ability to electronically read, classify, and retrieve a previously entered record.

With this capability it is conceivable that in the future a defendant criminal's identity (or that of an evasive suspect) might be instantly determined by simply placing his hand on an electronic scanning unit at police headquarters—or one mounted even in a patrol car.

New law enforcement technology is building a formidable assault on crime. This progress, I am confident, will spearhead a broad and successful attack on lawlessness from society as a whole.

Nurse Vanishes -- A Tahoe Mystery

South Lake Tahoe,
El Dorado County

Donna Lass, a pretty young nurse who left San Francisco to work in the first-aid office of the Sahara hotel-casino here, has been missing for three weeks under ominous circumstances.

Officially, her disappearance is a missing persons case under "extensive investigation," but it is known that police in three counties are checking similarities with the abduction-murder of a Sacramento nurse last March.

Miss Lass, 26, described by friends and relatives as a happy, dependable girl, vanished about 2 a.m. Sunday, September 6, at the end of her shift at the Sahara in Stateline on the Nevada side.

APARTMENT

With the exception of one outfit, her clothes and belongings in her newly rented apartment in South Lake Tahoe were found intact. Her 1968 convertible car was parked undocked outside.

A $500 savings account was untouched and her credit cards have not been used since the disappearance.

On March 7, Judith Ann Hakari, 23, vanished at the end of her regular shift as a nurse at Sutter Memorial hospital in Sacramento. Her apartment was untouched and her car was found nearby.

DONNA LASS
Missing three weeks

Seven weeks later the "savagely beaten" body of Miss Hakari was found buried in a shallow grave in the Sierra foothills of Placer county. The case remains unsolved.

BODY

Miss Lass, whose family lives in Beresford, S.D., became a first-aid nurse at the Sahara last June after living the previous five months in San Francisco and working at Letterman General Hospital at the Presidio.

She liked her job, according to a close friend, and planned to work through the winter at Lake Tahoe, skiing and saving money for a trip to Europe.

Jo Anne Goetsche, who shared an apartment with Miss Lass in San Francisco and worked on the same ward with her at Letterman, said her friend described her winter plans in glowing terms during a telephone conversation September 3.

Miss Goetsche was invited to Lake Tahoe to spend the Labor Day weekend at Miss Lass' newly rented apartment. Not knowing the address, Miss Goetsche arrived here and waited to contact her friend through the Sahara, but Miss Lass was absent from work. Miss Goetsche returned to San Francisco without seeing her.

As the absence lengthened, hotel officials contacted the South Lake Tahoe police who checked her apartment and could find no clue to her whereabouts. Relatives in Sioux Falls flew here a week ago.

"The apartment was immaculate," Mary Pilker, Miss Lass' widowed sister, said yesterday. "She was expecting a friend from San Francisco for the weekend."

"She is a very dependable, friendly girl," Mrs. Pilker said. "She would never take off on her own like that."

Dear Sir:

I am enclosing an article quoting you on technology's role in law enforcement. No technology will work if one cannot get immediate cooperation of law enforcement personnel. Such was the case of my dear friend (See enclosed circular.) How does one go about getting the assistance from the law when time is at an essence? I would appreciate your help in this matter. If we do not find Donna, we (her relatives and friends) are going to do everything to prevent this happening to others. /C

I would like to get statistics [redacted] on the number of girls who have disappeared in the last five years in the United States and how many have been found. I also would like the same statistics for the states of California and Nevada especially in the Lake Tahoe region.

Thank you for your help. Enclosed find self addressed envelope for requested materials.

Your letter of January 12, 1972, with enclosures, has been received, and I appreciate the interest which prompted you to write.

With reference to your inquiry concerning Miss Donna Lass, it is noted that she is officially listed as a missing person. For your information, this Bureau does not have the authority to conduct an active investigation in the absence of a violation of a Federal law within our jurisdiction.

While I would like to be of assistance to you, this Bureau does not compile statistical data on missing persons. Our Uniform Crime Reports bulletin, a copy of which is enclosed, does contain, on page 159, statistics on the number of "runaways" arrested which is broken down by sex. In addition, I am enclosing some data on missing persons which may be of help to you.

Dear Sir:

I would appreciate any information that you might have regarding Donna Lass, who disappeared on or about September 6, 1970. Donna was employed as a registered nurse by the Sahara-Tahoe Hotel, Lake Tahoe, California, at the time of her disappearance. So far, in spite of much effort and money spent there are no clues. The FBI listed her as a missing person. There was a suspicion that she may have been a victim of the Zodiac killer. A five thousand dollar reward is offered for any clues leading to her whereabouts. Donna's father has passed away since her disappearance. Her mother's physical and mental condition has deteriorated due to the loss of her daughter. We hope the FBI will now help in this search. The family will cooperate in every possible way.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Kelley:

I am writing on behalf of the family of Donna Ann Lass who reside in [redacted]

Donna Lass has been missing since September 1970, and investigations by California police and private detectives have not resulted in locating her.

Donna disappeared approximately September 5, 1970 from Lake Tahoe, California, where she was employed as a nurse at the Hotel Sahara. The family first learned of her disappearance when someone from [redacted] the Hotel Sahara called Donna's mother in [redacted] to ask why Donna had not been at work for about 10 days. The Hotel had received, several days prior, a phone call from a man who said that Donna would not be in to work for a while due to an emergency phone call she had received from her family in [redacted]. Because there had been no family emergency and no such phone call, the family feels that Donna was kidnapped.

b7C

Donna was born November 3, 1944, in Sioux Falls, South Dakota. She graduated from Beresford High School in 1965, and received nurses training in Sioux City, Iowa. She worked at the Letterman Hospital in San Francisco and moved to Lake Tahoe, California in June 1970 to work as a nurse at the Sahara Hotel. She is 5'4", 135 pounds, brownish-blond hair, blue eyes and has pierced ears. Her social security number is 480-58-9944

Dear Senator Abourezk:

On April 26, 1976, I received your letter concerning your interest in locating Miss Donna Ann Lass, on behalf of her family.

The disappearance of Miss Lass was brought to our attention in September, 1970. At that time, a missing person notice was placed in the files of our Identification Division. A notation is being added to the effect that any information we receive will be forwarded to you.

I can certainly understand the family's concern over Donna's disappearance, but based on the facts as known, there is no evidence of a violation of a Federal statute which would empower the FBI to conduct an active investigation. I regret that it is not possible for this Bureau to provide further assistance in this matter.
