

Mary Haworth's Mail

Reader Says Not All Devotees Are Monsters, Any More Than All Politicians Are Corrupt

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I am a homosexual, as well as president of a gay rights organization company. I and most of my friends are in the so-called upper-middle class with New York apartments and homes in nearby communities.

About half of my friends, like myself, are gay. The others are normal married couples. I think we are equally as healthy as any other group. The son of one of my closest friends is my godchild. Please call me at home now 15.

Since he was about 7, they have spent all summer vacation in our city, every spring and fall, and the winter. And I see these visits very frequently. They go to museums, zoos, circuses, theaters, take boat and boat rides and go to restaurants. They love every minute of it.

HOPES TO GIVE LIGHT ON SUBJECT

In the latest issue I had a dozen boyfriends in for dinner and the evening with Tony. They as well as I had a delighted time. We are the only ones (all residents of my building) their parents and I all have mutual friends. They would be unapproachable to suggest that my interest in them is anything but platonic.

My gene may be properly classified as deviate, but I believe that they are not deviant to recognize that we are necessarily monsters. I enjoy your column and never cease to admire your knowledge and observations.

Your observations disabuse me of the notion that all homosexuals are base creatures — with the exception, of course, of all the evil imitations — with the result that "normal" people are ignorant, gullible and whole politicians corrupt. If you see fit to print any of this, perhaps some other enlightened soul will enlighten it, even if so slightly.

Thank you, — S.Y.

CHRONICLE

FROM NETHERLANDS

DEAR MARY: The most comprehensive and unbiased assessment of homosexuality: Mary Haworth counseled that I encountered to date is through her column. Write her, folks! — Dr. C. J. Tripp in care of the Valley Times-News.

Healthy Attitudes Herald

UN Urges Limit On Missiles

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — The General Assembly of the United Nations has become an internationally respected teacher, lecturer and arbiter of international law (legal parents) and its neighborhood.

The page 20 of the above-named newspaper, Dr. Tripp comes close to echoing the gist of your concluding paragraph, in the case of the Soviet-borne threat:

"It was regarded as a plot to bring about a nuclear holocaust. Western and Communist diplomats generally were agreed that the missile test was a prelude to the production feature at least of the Soviet Union's latest President-elect Nixon's last attempt to secure a nuclear test ban."

BACKED BY BOTH

Both Russia and the Americans called for a moratorium on further tests, such talk to start at an early date."

The test was 108 to 0 with seven abstentions. There were France, Cuba, Central African Republic, Mali, Mauritania and Tanzania, Washington, and Moscow.

Visitors to the United Nations can just now get into bilateral talks on curbing missile systems at the earliest possible date.

Men's tests made talk because men always found it difficult to take them down after Christmas.

Women who didn't have too well and might drop into our house around the middle of February for a cup of tea, would not stop at shot when they saw our tree still standing. Their jaws would drop, and you could see behind their blank eyes that they were counting the long weeks since Christmas trees had disappeared from their own well-ordered lives.

Men always knew what they were thinking. She would say placidly, "It gives the room such a nice atmosphere." — A.T.

OPEN HOUSE UP

For the same reasons, the U.S. Senate has held up ratifying the nuclear test ban treaty which was drafted by the Soviet Union and the United States. That bill has been referred to the Senate Select Committee on Environment and Public Works, and will be voted on next week.

It was a good idea, though, if possible unprudently thought. Hopefully her letter will encourage others to accept the principles accepted above may encourage more effort in that direction.

IT'S RICH

From Page ONE

From 1945 to 1964 under the Valley Community Action Committee office, 1927 Alabama, where some 600 needy children were the guests of the poverty program.

There will be entertainment and food for the young and old, as well as the local merchants and volunteers of staff members and volunteer workers.

INVITATION

Children from all low income families are invited to the party. Those unable to arrange transportation are urged to call 443-8888.

Referrals and gifts will be given to the child if ill and unable to attend the party if a call is made to the party office.

ADDED SERVICE

The party also aims to provide the Valley family unable to make arrangements for the special needs of the child. Further information on this service also may be obtained by calling 443-8888.

NEW YEAR'S EVE PARTY

With All the Trimmings!

"The Combinations" and "Bobby Lane"

7 Days a Week

Adults $1.50, Child bracelet $1.00, Sunday, 12 noon until 12:30 A.M.

DOUG & DERRY

THURS. • FRI. • SAT.

FIRESIDE

Lounge

SOLANO AT MARIPOSA

MOORE-O-MATIC GARAGE DOOR OPENER FREE - 30 DAY FREE TRIAL!

• 5-Year Manufacturer's Writer Warranty! So simple, you can be your own serviceman.

• Heavy-duty drive-chain - man in the street.

• Solid poly-nails. Quiet, needs no oiling—very quiet in metal engineering.

• Instant reverse if obstructed by any object.

• Also, Push-Button control.

• Manufacture's back - ask to see our working units, or see our FREE BROCHURE.

• GIVE BLUE CHIP STAMPS

HARRY TITEN, Mgr. • 642-2442 • 2445 Alameda Conners Overhead Garage Door Co.

An Old Established Firm

Plane Returned In Bomb Scare

POMONA (AP) — Police released a 10-year-old college student who was captured yesterday morning after a Detroit-bound airliner was returned to Los Angeles because of a bomb threat.

Darryl Neal Landrum was arrested at the airport as passengers were being arranged on charges of forgery.

Landrum was arrested at the airport in Carter's card or longer, but his roommate Lee D. Pearson, 22, 9 hours or more in high cards or unusually good distribution.

North South

AKASHI

From PAGE ONE

of Valley as a city from whom they would succeed in getting a new name.

Valley's new Sister City is located on the Akashi Strait in Japan. It is the second largest island Sea which is one of Japan's national parks. It has a population of 100,000 and draws a great deal of its income from tourism.

The city is noted for its many shrines, temples and gardens and has been the home of a number of important historical figures, including several writers and artists.

It is the site of the National Astronomical Science Building which houses one of Japan's largest observatories. It is a center for the study of cosmology. It also houses a large medieval-style stone. The tree would stand there for a long time.

Visitors would give a quick and almost apprehensive intake of breath when they'd see our tree standing in our front room" in the first days of Christmas.

"But ... ?" They'd start. Or sometimes they'd burst out laughing.

Mom was placid even to them. "It was such a pretty tree, I used to take it down, and then she would pack away all the decorations and my young brother George would eat the last of its needles — and it would stand there. Mom's trees always burned nicely. They had long since passed the green lumber stage.

Decorations were still in the closet during the next Christmas ever, and I'd dimly remember old Valley was a small picture of a satisfied looking east, which had been dead when my mother received it from a friend, and fly-swept paper stars with Sisters of Notre Dame monograms and awarded to the scholars of the family. A few tiny store halls, and several yards of fuzzy and tarnished gold rope completed the decorations. Christmas in our house would be over and April at hand about the time of the new year.

Mom never went in for those fancy ashionable-cut winter scenes around the base of the tree. If she had done so, she never would have dug them up between the years. She had a horn of dug them up and discarded any possibility of reuse, and she could force her to open nearly wrapped gift.

But even such surrenders were conditional. She would open the gifts without tearing the labels or the bows, and she would make an instant decision as to whether the gift was "nice" or not. If it was "nice," she could not be made to wait even if it was a gunpoint.

Even if mom had wanted all tree-trimmed in our house, I'm a little more ... just a little more. I'd direct from the middle of the room, and her voice would come from the folds of the tree. I can hear her still and it'll heat the needles that pressed against my face and ears.

She would give the full part of the face racing the room," she would say. Our trees always had a bald side.

(Distributed By King Features Syndicate)

SYUFY LUXURY THEATRES

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA'S FINEST ENTERTAINMENT CENTER

CINE 2

MONTEBELLO, ELVY THEATRE • 1029 Tennessee Street • 300-7580

AUTO MOVIES

FESTIVAL THEATRE • 1029 Tennessee Street • 300-7580

GATE — 6:00
SHOW — 7:00

Plane Returned In Bomb Scare

SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE

Bid Speculative Game After Opening Notrump

We end our series of hands on dummy's cutting power. Some's openings require us with the line of play would work only if the diamonds broke 3-3, with the odds 2-2 in 1. In 1, a lagged such a threat.

Darryl Neal Landrum was arrested at the airport as passengers were being arranged on charges of forgery.

Landrum was arrested at the airport in Carter's card or longer, but his roommate Lee D. Pearson, 22, 9 hours or more in high cards or unusually good distribution.

North South

AKASHI

From PAGE ONE

of Valley as a city from whom they would succeed in getting a new name.

Valley's new Sister City is located on the Akashi Strait in Japan. It is the second largest island Sea which is one of Japan's national parks. It has a population of 100,000 and draws a great deal of its income from tourism.

The city is noted for its many shrines, temples and gardens and has been the home of a number of important historical figures, including several writers and artists.

It is the site of the National Astronomical Science Building which houses one of Japan's largest observatories. It is a center for the study of cosmology. It also houses a large medieval-style stone. The tree would stand there for a long time.

Visitors would give a quick and almost apprehensive intake of breath when they'd see our tree standing in our front room" in the first days of Christmas.

"But ... ?" They'd start. Or sometimes they'd burst out laughing.

Mom was placid even to them. "It was such a pretty tree, I used to take it down, and then she would pack away all the decorations and my young brother George would eat the last of its needles — and it would stand there. Mom's trees always burned nicely. They had long since passed the green lumber stage.

Decorations were still in the closet during the next Christmas ever, and I'd dimly remember old Valley was a small picture of a satisfied looking east, which had been dead when my mother received it from a friend, and fly-swept paper stars with Sisters of Notre Dame monograms and awarded to the scholars of the family. A few tiny store halls, and several yards of fuzzy and tarnished gold rope completed the decorations. Christmas in our house would be over and April at hand about the time of the new year.

Mom never went in for those fancy ashionable-cut winter scenes around the base of the tree. If she had done so, she never would have dug them up between the years. She had a horn of dug them up and discarded any possibility of reuse, and she could force her to open nearly wrapped gift.

But even such surrenders were conditional. She would open the gifts without tearing the labels or the bows, and she would make an instant decision as to whether the gift was "nice" or not. If it was "nice," she could not be made to wait even if it was a gunpoint.

Even if mom had wanted all tree-trimmed in our house, I'm a little more ... just a little more. I'd direct from the middle of the room, and her voice would come from the folds of the tree. I can hear her still and it'll heat the needles that pressed against my face and ears.

She would give the full part of the face racing the room," she would say. Our trees always had a bald side.

(Distributed By King Features Syndicate)

SYUFY LUXURY THEATRES

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA'S FINEST ENTERTAINMENT CENTER

CINE 2

MONTEBELLO, ELVY THEATRE • 1029 Tennessee Street • 300-7580

AUTO MOVIES

FESTIVAL THEATRE • 1029 Tennessee Street • 300-7580

GATE — 6:00
SHOW — 7:00

Plane Returned In Bomb Scare

SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE

Bid Speculative Game After Opening Notrump

We end our series of hands on dummy's cutting power. Some's openings require us with the line of play would work only if the diamonds broke 3-3, with the odds 2-2 in 1. In 1, a lagged such a threat.

Darryl Neal Landrum was arrested at the airport as passengers were being arranged on charges of forgery.

Landrum was arrested at the airport in Carter's card or longer, but his roommate Lee D. Pearson, 22, 9 hours or more in high cards or unusually good distribution.

North South

AKASHI

From PAGE ONE

of Valley as a city from whom they would succeed in getting a new name.

Valley's new Sister City is located on the Akashi Strait in Japan. It is the second largest island Sea which is one of Japan's national parks. It has a population of 100,000 and draws a great deal of its income from tourism.

The city is noted for its many shrines, temples and gardens and has been the home of a number of important historical figures, including several writers and artists.

It is the site of the National Astronomical Science Building which houses one of Japan's largest observatories. It is a center for the study of cosmology. It also houses a large medieval-style stone. The tree would stand there for a long time.

Visitors would give a quick and almost apprehensive intake of breath when they'd see our tree standing in our front room" in the first days of Christmas.

"But ... ?" They'd start. Or sometimes they'd burst out laughing.

Mom was placid even to them. "It was such a pretty tree, I used to take it down, and then she would pack away all the decorations and my young brother George would eat the last of its needles — and it would stand there. Mom's trees always burned nicely. They had long since passed the green lumber stage.

Decorations were still in the closet during the next Christmas ever, and I'd dimly remember old Valley was a small picture of a satisfied looking east, which had been dead when my mother received it from a friend, and fly-swept paper stars with Sisters of Notre Dame monograms and awarded to the scholars of the family. A few tiny store halls, and several yards of fuzzy and tarnished gold rope completed the decorations. Christmas in our house would be over and April at hand about the time of the new year.

Mom never went in for those fancy ashionable-cut winter scenes around the base of the tree. If she had done so, she never would have dug them up between the years. She had a horn of dug them up and discarded any possibility of reuse, and she could force her to open nearly wrapped gift.

But even such surrenders were conditional. She would open the gifts without tearing the labels or the bows, and she would make an instant decision as to whether the gift was "nice" or not. If it was "nice," she could not be made to wait even if it was a gunpoint.

Even if mom had wanted all tree-trimmed in our house, I'm a little more ... just a little more. I'd direct from the middle of the room, and her voice would come from the folds of the tree. I can hear her still and it'll heat the needles that pressed against my face and ears.

She would give the full part of the face racing the room," she would say. Our trees always had a bald side.

(Distributed By King Features Syndicate)

SYUFY LUXURY THEATRES

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA'S FINEST ENTERTAINMENT CENTER

CINE 2

MONTEBELLO, ELVY THEATRE • 1029 Tennessee Street • 300-7580

AUTO MOVIES

FESTIVAL THEATRE • 1029 Tennessee Street • 300-7580

GATE — 6:00
SHOW — 7:00

Plane Returned In Bomb Scare

SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE

Bid Speculative Game After Opening Notrump

We end our series of hands on dummy's cutting power. Some's openings require us with the line of play would work only if the diamonds broke 3-3, with the odds 2-2 in 1. In 1, a lagged such a threat.

Darryl Neal Landrum was arrested at the airport as passengers were being arranged on charges of forgery.

Landrum was arrested at the airport in Carter's card or longer, but his roommate Lee D. Pearson, 22, 9 hours or more in high cards or unusually good distribution.

North South

AKASHI

From PAGE ONE

of Valley as a city from whom they would succeed in getting a new name.

Valley's new Sister City is located on the Akashi Strait in Japan. It is the second largest island Sea which is one of Japan's national parks. It has a population of 100,000 and draws a great deal of its income from tourism.

The city is noted for its many shrines, temples and gardens and has been the home of a number of important historical figures, including several writers and artists.

It is the site of the National Astronomical Science Building which houses one of Japan's largest observatories. It is a center for the study of cosmology. It also houses a large medieval-style stone. The tree would stand there for a long time.

Visitors would give a quick and almost apprehensive intake of breath when they'd see our tree standing in our front room" in the first days of Christmas.

"But ... ?" They'd start. Or sometimes they'd burst out laughing.

Mom was placid even to them. "It was such a pretty tree, I used to take it down, and then she would pack away all the decorations and my young brother George would eat the last of its needles — and it would stand there. Mom's trees always burned nicely. They had long since passed the green lumber stage.

Decorations were still in the closet during the next Christmas ever, and I'd dimly remember old Valley was a small picture of a satisfied looking east, which had been dead when my mother received it from a friend, and fly-swept paper stars with Sisters of Notre Dame monograms and awarded to the scholars of the family. A few tiny store halls, and several yards of fuzzy and tarnished gold rope completed the decorations. Christmas in our house would be over and April at hand about the time of the new year.

Mom never went in for those fancy ashionable-cut winter scenes around the base of the tree. If she had done so, she never would have dug them up between the years. She had a horn of dug them up and discarded any possibility of reuse, and she could force her to open nearly wrapped gift.

But even such surrenders were conditional. She would open the gifts without tearing the labels or the bows, and she would make an instant decision as to whether the gift was "nice" or not. If it was "nice," she could not be made to wait even if it was a gunpoint.

Even if mom had wanted all tree-trimmed in our house, I'm a little more ... just a little more. I'd direct from the middle of the room, and her voice would come from the folds of the tree. I can hear her still and it'll heat the needles that pressed against my face and ears.

She would give the full part of the face racing the room," she would say. Our trees always had a bald side.

(Distributed By King Features Syndicate)

SYUFY LUXURY THEATRES

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA'S FINEST ENTERTAINMENT CENTER

CINE 2

MONTEBELLO, ELVY THEATRE • 1029 Tennessee Street • 300-7580

AUTO MOVIES

FESTIVAL THEATRE • 1029 Tennessee Street • 300-7580

GATE — 6:00
SHOW — 7:00

Plane Returned In Bomb Scare

SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE

Bid Speculative Game After Opening Notrump

We end our series of hands on dummy's cutting power. Some's openings require us with the line of play would work only if the diamonds broke 3-3, with the odds 2-2 in 1. In 1, a lagged such a threat.

Darryl Neal Landrum was arrested at the airport as passengers were being arranged on charges of forgery.

Landrum was arrested at the airport in Carter's card or longer, but his roommate Lee D. Pearson, 22, 9 hours or more in high cards or unusually good distribution.

North South

AKASHI

From PAGE ONE

of Valley as a city from whom they would succeed in getting a new name.

Valley's new Sister City is located on the Akashi Strait in Japan. It is the second largest island Sea which is one of Japan's national parks. It has a population of 100,000 and draws a great deal of its income from tourism.

The city is noted for its many shrines, temples and gardens and has been the home of a number of important historical figures, including several writers and artists.

It is the site of the National Astronomical Science Building which houses one of Japan's largest observatories. It is a center for the study of cosmology. It also houses a large medieval-style stone. The tree would stand there for a long time.

Visitors would give a quick and almost apprehensive intake of breath when they'd see our tree standing in our front room" in the first days of Christmas.

"But ... ?" They'd start. Or sometimes they'd burst out laughing.

Mom was placid even to them. "It was such a pretty tree, I used to take it down, and then she would pack away all the decorations and my young brother George would eat the last of its needles — and it would stand there. Mom's trees always burned nicely. They had long since passed the green lumber stage.

Decorations were still in the closet during the next Christmas ever, and I'd dimly remember old Valley was a small picture of a satisfied looking east, which had been dead when my mother received it from a friend, and fly-swept paper stars with Sisters of Notre Dame monograms and awarded to the scholars of the family. A few tiny store halls, and several yards of fuzzy and tarnished gold rope completed the decorations. Christmas in our house would be over and April at hand about the time of the new year.

Mom never went in for those fancy ashionable-cut winter scenes around the base of the tree. If she had done so, she never would have dug them up between the years. She had a horn of dug them up and discarded any possibility of reuse, and she could force her to open nearly wrapped gift.

But even such surrenders were conditional. She would open the gifts without tearing the labels or the bows, and she would make an instant decision as to whether the gift was "nice" or not. If it was "nice," she could not be made to wait even if it was a gunpoint.

Even if mom had wanted all tree-trimmed in our house, I'm a little more ... just a little more. I'd direct from the middle of the room, and her voice would come from the folds of the tree. I can hear her still and it'll heat the needles that pressed against my face and ears.

She would give the full part of the face racing the room," she would say. Our trees always had a bald side.

(Distributed By King Features Syndicate)

SYUFY LUXURY THEATRES

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA'S FINEST ENTERTAINMENT CENTER

CINE 2

MONTEBELLO, ELVY THEATRE • 1029 Tennessee Street • 300-7580

AUTO MOVIES

FESTIVAL THEATRE • 1029 Tennessee Street • 300-7580

GATE — 6:00
SHOW — 7:00

Plane Returned In Bomb Scare

SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE

Bid Speculative Game After Opening Notrump

We end our series of hands on dummy's cutting power. Some's openings require us with the line of play would work only if the diamonds broke 3-3, with the odds 2-2 in 1. In 1, a lagged such a threat.

Darryl Neal Landrum was arrested at the airport as passengers were being arranged on charges of forgery.

Landrum was arrested at the airport in Carter's card or longer, but his roommate Lee D. Pearson, 22, 9 hours or more in high cards or unusually good distribution.

North South

AKASHI

From PAGE ONE

of Valley as a city from whom they would succeed in getting a new name.

Valley's new Sister City is located on the Akashi Strait in Japan. It is the second largest island Sea which is one of Japan's national parks. It has a population of 100,000 and draws a great deal of its income from tourism.

The city is noted for its many shrines, temples and gardens and has been the home of a number of important historical figures, including several writers and artists.

It is the site of the National Astronomical Science Building which houses one of Japan's largest observatories. It is a center for the study of cosmology. It also houses a large medieval-style stone. The tree would stand there for a long time.

Visitors would give a quick and almost apprehensive intake of breath when they'd see our tree standing in our front room" in the first days of Christmas.

"But ... ?" They'd start. Or sometimes they'd burst out laughing.

Mom was placid even to them. "It was such a pretty tree, I used to take it down, and then she would pack away all the decorations and my young brother George would eat the last of its needles — and it would stand there. Mom's trees always burned nicely. They had long since passed the green lumber stage.

Decorations were still in the closet during the next Christmas ever, and I'd dimly remember old Valley was a small picture of a satisfied looking east, which had been dead when my mother received it from a friend, and fly-swept paper stars with Sisters of Notre Dame monograms and awarded to the scholars of the family. A few tiny store halls, and several yards of fuzzy and tarnished gold rope completed the decorations. Christmas in our house would be over and April at hand about the time of the new year.

Mom never went in for those fancy ashionable-cut winter scenes around the base of the tree. If she had done so, she never would have dug them up between the years. She had a horn of dug them up and discarded any possibility of reuse, and she could force her to open nearly wrapped gift.

But even such surrenders were conditional. She would open the gifts without tearing the labels or the bows, and she would make an instant decision as to whether the gift was "nice" or not. If it was "nice," she could not be made to wait even if it was a gunpoint.

Even if mom had wanted all tree-trimmed in our house, I'm a little more ... just a little more. I'd direct from the middle of the room, and her voice would come from the folds of the tree. I can hear her still and it'll heat the needles that pressed against my face and ears.

She would give the full part of the face racing the room," she would say. Our trees always had a bald side.

(Distributed By King Features Syndicate)

SYUFY LUXURY THEATRES

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA'S FINEST ENTERTAINMENT CENTER

CINE 2

MONTEBELLO, ELVY THEATRE • 1029 Tennessee Street • 300-7580

AUTO MOVIES

FESTIVAL THEATRE • 1029 Tennessee Street • 300-7580

GATE — 6:00
SHOW — 7:00

Plane Returned In Bomb Scare

SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE

Bid Speculative Game After Opening Notrump

We end our series of hands on dummy's cutting power. Some's openings require us with the line of play would work only if the diamonds broke 3-3, with the odds 2-2 in 1. In 1, a lagged such a threat.

Darryl Neal Landrum was arrested at the airport as passengers were being arranged on charges of forgery.

Landrum was arrested at the airport in Carter's card or longer, but his roommate Lee D. Pearson, 22, 9 hours or more in high cards or unusually good distribution.

North South

AKASHI

From PAGE ONE

of Valley as a city from whom they would succeed in getting a new name.

Valley's new Sister City is located on the Akashi Strait in Japan. It is the second largest island Sea which is one of Japan's national parks. It has a population of 100,000 and draws a great deal of its income from tourism.

The city is noted for its many shrines, temples and gardens and has been the home of a number of important historical figures, including several writers and artists.

It is the site of the National Astronomical Science Building which houses one of Japan's largest observatories. It is a center for the study of cosmology. It also houses a large medieval-style stone. The tree would stand there for a long time.

Visitors would give a quick and almost apprehensive intake of breath when they'd see our tree standing in our front room" in the first days of Christmas.

"But ... ?" They'd start. Or sometimes they'd burst out laughing.

Mom was placid even to them. "It was such a pretty tree, I used to take it down, and then she would pack away all the decorations and my young brother George would eat the last of its needles — and it would stand there. Mom's trees always burned nicely. They had long since passed the green lumber stage.

Decorations were still in the closet during the next Christmas ever, and I'd dimly remember old Valley was a small picture of a satisfied looking east, which had been dead when my mother received it from a friend, and fly-swept paper stars with Sisters of Notre Dame monograms and awarded to the scholars of the family. A few tiny store halls, and several yards of fuzzy and tarnished gold rope completed the decorations. Christmas in our house would be over and April at hand about the time of the new year.

Mom never went in for those fancy ashionable-cut winter scenes around the base of the tree. If she had done so, she never would have dug them up between the years. She had a horn of dug them up and discarded any possibility of reuse, and she could force her to open nearly wrapped gift.

But even such surrenders were conditional. She would open the gifts without tearing the labels or the bows, and she would make an instant decision as to whether the gift was "nice" or not. If it was "nice," she could not be made to wait even if it was a gunpoint.

Even if mom had wanted all tree-trimmed in our house, I'm a little more ... just a little more. I'd direct from the middle of the room, and her voice would come from the folds of the tree. I can hear her still and it'll heat the needles that pressed against my face and ears.

She would give the full part of the face racing the room," she would say. Our trees always had a bald side.

(Distributed By King Features Syndicate)

SYUFY LUXURY THEATRES

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA'S FINEST ENTERTAINMENT CENTER

CINE 2

MONTEBELLO, ELVY THEATRE • 1029 Tennessee Street • 300-7580

AUTO MOVIES

FESTIVAL THEATRE • 1029 Tennessee Street • 300-7580

GATE — 6:00
SHOW — 7:00

Plane Returned In Bomb Scare

SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE

Bid Speculative Game After Opening Notrump

We end our series of hands on dummy's cutting power. Some's openings require us with the line of play would work only if the diamonds broke 3-3, with the odds 2-2 in 1. In 1, a lagged such a threat.

Darryl Neal Landrum was arrested at the airport as passengers were being arranged on charges of forgery.

Landrum was arrested at the airport in Carter's card or longer, but his roommate Lee D. Pearson, 22, 9 hours or more in high cards or unusually good distribution.

North South

AKASHI

From PAGE ONE

of Valley as a city from whom they would succeed in getting a new name.

Valley's new Sister City is located on the Akashi Strait in Japan. It is the second largest island Sea which is one of Japan's national parks. It has a population of 100,000 and draws a great deal of its income from tourism.

The city is noted for its many shrines, temples and gardens and has been the home of a number of important historical figures, including several writers and artists.

It is the site of the National Astronomical Science Building which houses one of Japan's largest observatories. It is a center for the study of cosmology. It also houses a large medieval-style stone. The tree would stand there for a long time.

Visitors would give a quick and almost apprehensive intake of breath when they'd see our tree standing in our front room" in the first days of Christmas.

"But ... ?" They'd start. Or sometimes they'd burst out laughing.

Mom was placid even to them. "It was such a pretty tree, I used to take it down, and then she would pack away all the decorations and my young brother George would eat the last of its needles — and it would stand there. Mom's trees always burned nicely. They had long since passed the green lumber stage.

Decorations were still in the closet during the next Christmas ever, and I'd dimly remember old Valley was a small picture of a satisfied looking east, which had been dead when my mother received it from a friend, and fly-swept paper stars with Sisters of Notre Dame monograms and awarded to the scholars of the family. A few tiny store halls, and several yards of fuzzy and tarnished gold rope completed the decorations. Christmas in our house would be over and April at hand about the time of the new year.

Mom never went in for those fancy ashionable-cut winter scenes around the base of the tree. If she had done so, she never would have dug them up between the years. She had a horn of dug them up and discarded any possibility of reuse, and she could force her to open nearly wrapped gift.

But even such surrenders were conditional. She would open the gifts without tearing the labels or the bows, and she would make an instant decision as to whether the gift was "nice" or not. If it was "nice," she could not be made to wait even if it was a gunpoint.

Even if mom had wanted all tree-trimmed in our house, I'm a little more ... just a little more. I'd direct from the middle of the room, and her voice would come from the folds of the tree. I can hear her still and it'll heat the needles that pressed against my face and ears.

She would give the full part of the face racing the room," she would say. Our trees always had a bald side.

(Distributed By King Features Syndicate)

SYUFY LUXURY THEATRES

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA'S FINEST ENTERTAINMENT CENTER

CINE 2

MONTEBELLO, ELVY THEATRE • 1029 Tennessee Street • 300-7580

AUTO MOVIES

FESTIVAL THEATRE • 1029 Tennessee Street • 300-7580

GATE — 6:00
SHOW — 7:00

Plane Returned In Bomb Scare

SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE

Bid Speculative Game After Opening Notrump

We end our series of hands on dummy's cutting power. Some's openings require us with the line of play would work only if the diamonds broke 3-3, with the odds 2-2 in 1. In 1, a lagged such a threat.

Darryl Neal Landrum was arrested at the airport as passengers were being arranged on charges of forgery.

Landrum was arrested at the airport in Carter's card or longer, but his roommate Lee D. Pearson, 22, 9 hours or more in high cards or unusually good distribution.

North South

AKASHI

From PAGE ONE

of Valley as a city from whom they would succeed in getting a new name.

Valley's new Sister City is located on the Akashi Strait in Japan. It is the second largest island Sea which is one of Japan's national parks. It has a population of 100,000 and draws a great deal of its income from tourism.

The city is noted for its many shrines, temples and gardens and has been the home of a number of important historical figures, including several writers and artists.

It is the site of the National Astronomical Science Building which houses one of Japan's largest observatories. It is a center for the study of cosmology. It also houses a large medieval-style stone. The tree would stand there for a long time.

Visitors would give a quick and almost apprehensive intake of breath when they'd see our tree standing in our front room" in the first days of Christmas.

"But ... ?" They'd start. Or sometimes they'd burst out laughing.

Mom was placid even to them. "It was such a pretty tree, I used to take it down, and then she would pack away all the decorations and my young brother George would eat the last of its needles — and it would stand there. Mom's trees always burned nicely. They had long since passed the green lumber stage.

Decorations were still in the closet during the next Christmas ever, and I'd dimly remember old Valley was a small picture of a satisfied looking east, which had been dead when my mother received it from a friend, and fly-swept paper stars with Sisters of Notre Dame monograms and awarded to the scholars of the family. A few tiny store halls, and several yards of fuzzy and tarnished gold rope completed the decorations. Christmas in our house would be over and April at hand about the time of the new year.

Mom never went in for those fancy ashionable-cut winter scenes around the base of the tree. If she had done so, she never would have dug them up between the years. She had a horn of dug them up and discarded any possibility of reuse, and she could force her to open nearly wrapped gift.

But even such surrenders were conditional. She would open the gifts without tearing the labels or the bows, and she would make an instant decision as to whether the gift was "nice" or not. If it was "nice," she could not be made to wait even if it was a gunpoint.

Even if mom had wanted all tree-trimmed in our house, I'm a little more ... just a little more. I'd direct from the middle of the room, and her voice would come from the folds of the tree. I can hear her still and it'll heat the needles that pressed against my face and ears.

She would give the full part of the face racing the room," she would say. Our trees always had a bald side.

(Distributed By King Features Syndicate)

SYUFY LUXURY THEATRES

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA'S FINEST ENTERTAINMENT CENTER

CINE 2

MONTEBELLO, ELVY THEATRE • 1029 Tennessee Street • 300-7580

AUTO MOVIES

FESTIVAL THEATRE • 1029 Tennessee Street • 300-7580

GATE — 6:00
SHOW — 7:00

Plane Returned In Bomb Scare

SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE

Bid Speculative Game After Opening Notrump

We end our series of hands on dummy's cutting power. Some's openings require us with the line of play would work only if the diamonds broke 3-3, with the odds 2-2 in 1. In 1, a lagged such a threat.

Darryl Neal Landrum was arrested at the airport as passengers were being arranged on charges of forgery.

Landrum was arrested at the airport in Carter's card or longer, but his roommate Lee D. Pearson, 22, 9 hours or more in high cards or unusually good distribution.

North South

AKASHI

From PAGE ONE

of Valley as a city from whom they would succeed in getting a new name.

Valley's new Sister City is located on the Akashi Strait in Japan. It is the second largest island Sea which is one of Japan's national parks. It has a population of 100,000 and draws a great deal of its income from tourism.

The city is noted for its many shrines, temples and gardens and has been the home of a number of important historical figures, including several writers and artists.

It is the site of the National Astronomical Science Building which houses one of Japan's largest observatories. It is a center for the study of cosmology. It also houses a large medieval-style stone. The tree would stand there for a long time.

Visitors would give a quick and almost apprehensive intake of breath when they'd see our tree standing in our front room" in the first days of Christmas.

"But ... ?" They'd start. Or sometimes they'd burst out laughing.

Mom was placid even to them. "It was such a pretty tree, I used to take it down, and then she would pack away all the decorations and my young brother George would eat the last of its needles — and it would stand there. Mom's trees always burned nicely. They had long since passed the green lumber stage.

Decorations were still in the closet during the next Christmas ever, and I'd dimly remember old Valley was a small picture of a satisfied looking east, which had been dead when my mother received it from a friend, and fly-swept paper stars with Sisters of Notre Dame monograms and awarded to the scholars of the family. A few tiny store halls, and several yards of fuzzy and tarnished gold rope completed the decorations. Christmas in our house would be over and April at hand about the time of the new year.

Mom never went in for those fancy ashionable-cut winter scenes around the base of the tree. If she had done so, she never would have dug them up between the years. She had a horn of dug them up and discarded any possibility of reuse, and she could force her to open nearly wrapped gift.

But even such surrenders were conditional. She would open the gifts without tearing the labels or the bows, and she would make an instant decision as to whether the gift was "nice" or not. If it was "nice," she could not be made to wait even if it was a gunpoint.

Even if mom had wanted all tree-trimmed in our house, I'm a little more ... just a little more. I'd direct from the middle of the room, and her voice would come from the folds of the tree. I can hear her still and it'll heat the needles that pressed against my face and ears.

She would give the full part of the face racing the room," she would say. Our trees always had a bald side.

(Distributed By King Features Syndicate)

SYUFY LUXURY THEATRES

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA'S FINEST ENTERTAINMENT CENTER

CINE 2

MONTEBELLO, ELVY THEATRE • 1029 Tennessee Street • 300-7580

AUTO MOVIES

FESTIVAL THEATRE • 1029 Tennessee Street • 300-7580

GATE — 6:00
SHOW — 7:00

Plane Returned In Bomb Scare

SHEINWOLD ON BRIDGE

Bid Speculative Game After Opening Notrump

We end our series of hands on dummy's cutting power. Some's openings require us with the line of play would work only if the diamonds broke 3-3, with the odds 2-2 in 1. In 1, a lagged such a threat.

Darryl Neal Landrum was arrested at the airport as passengers were being arranged on charges of forgery.

Landrum was arrested at the airport in Carter's card or longer, but his roommate Lee D. Pearson, 22, 9 hours or more in high cards or unusually good distribution.

North South

AKASHI

From PAGE ONE

of Valley as a city from whom they would succeed in getting a new name.

Valley's new Sister City is located on the Akashi Strait in Japan. It is the second largest island Sea which is one of Japan's national parks. It has a population of 100,000 and draws a great deal of its income from tourism.

The city is noted for its many shrines, temples and gardens and has been the home of a number of important historical figures, including several writers and artists.

It is the site of the National Astronomical Science Building which houses one of Japan's largest observatories. It is a center for the study of cosmology. It also houses a large medieval-style stone. The tree would stand there for a long time.

Visitors would give a quick and almost apprehensive intake of breath when they'd see our tree standing in our front room" in the first days of Christmas.

"But ... ?" They'd start. Or sometimes they'd burst out laughing.

Mom was placid even to them. "It was such a pretty tree, I used to take it down, and then she would pack away all the decorations and my young brother George would eat the last of its needles — and it would stand there. Mom's trees always burned nicely. They had long since passed the green lumber stage.

Decorations were still in the closet during the next Christmas ever, and I'd dimly remember old Valley was a small picture of a satisfied looking east, which had been dead when my mother received it from a friend, and fly-swept paper stars with Sisters of Notre Dame monograms and awarded to the scholars of the family. A few tiny store halls, and several yards of fuzzy and tarnished gold rope completed the decorations. Christmas in our house would be over and April at hand about the time of the new year.

Mom never went in for those fancy ashionable-cut winter scenes around the base of the tree. If she had done so, she never would have dug them up between the years. She had a horn of dug them up and discarded any possibility of reuse, and she could force her to open nearly wrapped gift.

But even such surrenders were conditional. She would open the gifts without tearing the labels or the bows, and she would make an instant decision as to whether the gift was "nice